Blog author wanted!

Do you love to write about current IT topics and trends and are you able to describe complex facts in an understandable way? Do you want to work independently of time and place, incorporate your ideas into our editorial plan and reach a broad audience with your texts?

Then you're the right person for the job!

Your profile

Good general IT knowledge, software and hardware, Mac and Windows

Knowledge of current IT trends

A sense for study-relevant topics

Very good language skills, proficiency in German, English is a plus

After a short writing sample, a long-term and regular cooperation (two to four articles per month) is desirable.
